One platform for end-to-end business process automation across applications

Built on the Leading iPaaS Platform with infinite scalability

Secure, Low-Code, Self-Service

The Celigo integration platform (iPaaS) enables IT and non-IT teams alike to quickly automate business processes end-to-end using proven best practices.

"Celigo was the one platform that solved it all in one solution. As we learned one integration, it applied the learnings to the next one, all within one environment. We were able to do this with limited technical resources. We have more visibility, better inventory control, and fewer resources fixing errors. Our developer is now working on more revenue-driving projects."

Peter Bonoff
Operations manager

"We built a rich, multi-cloud API integration integration for our client Kevin's Worldwide so they can scale their business. If they want to switch to another ecommerce platform, we can implement that easily with less development or no code development."
